last day, a far larger crowd attended and many more would have attended had the weather man been a little better humor for about three hours, but as the rain was wanted none complained. In the tug of war event, the White team showed their superiority over their Red brothers and easily outpulled them. The base ball tournament was finally won by Glenwoodville aggregation, as the Clarendon boys refused to come down on Monday evening last and play off the final. Macleod was knocked completely out of the tournament on the first day. The bucking events were splendid and young Roy Thompson was awarded first money for the best ride. This young dare devil rider received a great ovation from the grandstand at the completion of his ride. He is a brother of Mark Thompson, the renowned broncho buster of Southern Alberta. A feature of regret is that there was no midway attraction for the kids and therefore many of the people stayed away as they had young children who could not be amused if brought to the fair.

During Thursday evening a most successful dance was held at the Hudson's Bay hall and the Agricultural Society netted over $150 from the proceeds. The Macleod Band discoursed splendid music during the afternoon and also played for the dance in the evening. Their playing was much enjoyed.

The Macleod Derby, the chief racing event of the fair, was won by Lady Ribblesdale, and owned by J. E. Watt, of Clarendon. The race was a splendid one, as the winner only just managed to beat Balsarock Fox, Miss Kathleen Hewson, a well known local jockey, the third horse was owned by Sandy Schnarr, of Macleod. One of the big grandstand attractions was a huge black bear driving a Ford car with F. A. Adams and the bear's owner as passengers. Bruin steered and worked the pedals in a competent manner, and he was no observer of speed laws, as at one time he was hitting up close to 40 miles an hour. After driving up and down in front of the grand stand, Mr. Bear, on instructions from his master, turned the car off the track through the gate, through the people on the midway and pulled up at the tent of the show, where he was to perform. The bear was owned by a travelling entertainment company, who luckily took up a stand at the fair during the second afternoon.

Following is the list of premium winners apart from those appearing in last week's issue of the Times:

HELP TO SAVE THE FISH.

Fishing and hunting are the most ancient industries of man. They extend long before agriculture. When a man fishes, he answers the call of the wild inherited from barbaric ancestors.

No real sportsman ever catches and kills more fish than will be eaten. To do so is vandalism.

All anglers know that the streams and lakes of our continent are gradually being "fished out." Accordingly, good sports will make use of this fact.

When you catch a fish too small to keep, always handle him with wet hands. A dry hand is almost certain to kill the fish, for it ruins the oily protective film over the scales.

Another thing: An angler, enraged because the fish isn't large, often hurls it viciously far from the boat. This is apt to kill the fish within a few days. A fish isn't made of iron. And water is hard, as you know if you ever hit it flat with your stomach in diving.

Play the game fairly. Be a good

WEDDING BELLS

BRIDGEMAN—GARDINER.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized in Macleod at the home of the bride's parents, on Monday, August 11th, 1924, when Bessie Dow, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. E. Gardiner, was married to Oscar Cleon Bridgeman, son of the Rev. E. J. Bridgeman, of Saskatoon, Sask, by the Rev. John Kennedy, Macleod. The bride was attended by little Dorothy McNeil, as flower girl. The bride was given away by her father, entering the room to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Swinarton. The rooms were tastefully decorated, and the archway under which the bridal pair stood during the ceremony was a veritable bower of flowers. After a buffet luncheon was served, the happy couple left by car for an extended honeymoon, intending to arrive in Boston, Mass., in time for the opening of Harvard University, where Mr. Bridgeman is taking a post-graduate course. A few intimate friends of the bride's family were present, and the out of town guests were Mrs. E. Bridgeman, Mrs. Harry Hay, Miss Florence Bridgeman, mother and sisters of the groom, and Miss Leola Smith, Red Deer.

CARD OF THANKS.

The officers and directors of the Agricultural Society desire to tender their sincere thanks to all those who so ably assisted at the Fair, also to those who acted in the capacity of judges, the young ladies of the Scarlet and Gold Club, who attended to the refreshments at the dances and to the Macleod baseball club for playing in the final game when Claresholm failed to put in an appearance.

Food Poisoning.

Last week we discussed recent deaths caused by food poisoning, and the different kinds of food poison. Dr. Victor Burke, head of the bacteriology department of the State College of Washington, told us some "why and wherefore" in that connection. He has some most interesting things to say on this important subject to us to-day.

"The organism causing botulism (a poisoning, you remember, caused by the formation of a toxin from the growth of the bacillus botulinus) may be present on any unpreserved fruit or vegetable, or meat. There is nothing to indicate its presence. It is more likely to be found on foods which are ripe or on the verge of spoiling. Such foods should be discarded, not preserved, to save them as is often done. Only fresh, whole fruits and vegetables should be preserved, and those only after thorough washing.

"Flies and other insects may convey the organism, and should be kept off foods to be preserved. If these precautions are observed, there is less chance of the botulism organism getting into the preserving jars. If they do get in, ordinary methods of heating can not be depended on to kill them. And if they are not killed they will grow and the food be poisoned.

"When serving preserved food the cook should examine it carefully for spoilage, indicated by the presence of particles, or rancid odor not characteristic of that particular kind of food. In glass jars the gas bubbles can be seen rising to the top or caught in the contents. A softening of the particles is indicated by a loss of shape and a settling of fine particles to the bottom. In tin cans the gas causes the ends of the cans to bulge outward. Puncturing such cans you can hear the gas escape.

"Presence of spoilage does not indicate that the food is poisonous, for there are many kinds of spoilage. Most organisms causing spoilage do not produce a poison. But ALL spoiled food MAY be poisonous and should be discarded. Unless thoroughly cooked it should not be given to the chickens. Cooking destroys the toxin but not the bacillus botulinus organisms. Eating these organisms does not cause disease, but eating the toxin usually results in death.

"Preserved foods may be in the first stages of decomposition and contain enough toxin to cause death, without showing any sign that the eye or nose can detect. Therefore all preserved foods should be thoroughly cooked before eaten unless the canning process is known to be safe. No home canning process is above suspicion. The improved methods in use now in large commercial canneries are believed safe but future botulism outbreaks may indicate that no method is absolutely safe.

"DO NOT TASTE preserved food to see if it is good to eat. The habit of doing so has resulted in a number of deaths from botulism. The toxin is so powerful that a drop on the end of the tongue may cause death.

"If a jar of home canned food is suspected, boil it thoroughly half an hour before tasting it. Or better, discard it. If there are any signs of decomposition the food should not be eaten. If a can of a commercial product is under suspicion, return it to the store, and ask for another. The National Canners' Association would rather give away $50,000 than have an outbreak of botulism from a commercially canned product. The few outbreaks of botulism following the eating of commercially canned products have resulted in the loss of millions of dollars to producers and canners.

"The Walla Walla outbreak showed how NOT to deal with spoiled food. Mrs. E. prepared a jar of home canned, cold packed asparagus for supper. She had temporarily lost her sense of smell and did not detect the peculiar odor of botulism decomposition. When the food was warmed up the odor in the room was so noticeable Mrs. E.'s son and daughter smelled it. In spite of this, the asparagus was put on the table. Mrs. E. ate part of a stalk to see if it was good. The son ate a whole stalk. The daughter refused to touch it.

As it appeared to be spoiled the rest of the asparagus was thrown to the chickens. Next morning a number of the chickens were sick or dead. A few days later Mrs. E. became ill, and died with typical symptoms of botulism. The son developed no symptoms, though he had eaten more than his mother. This may be explained by the supposition that the stalk he ate had been heated enough to kill the toxin, while what Mrs. E. ate, in another part of the dish, was exposed to less heat. It takes some time for heat to penetrate to the interior of a mass of food. Food containing gas may seem to boil for several minutes before the true boiling point is reached.

"Instantaneous exposure of botulism toxin to a boiling temperature will destroy it and render the food safe to eat. Sufficient time must be given for the heat to reach the interior of the food mass and of each particle.

"One of the dead chickens from Mrs. E.'s flock and a jar of the asparagus were sent to the college laboratory for examination. Botulism bacillus was found in the chicken, and

He:—"There is an awful rumbling in my stomach—like a cart going over a cobblestone street."

She:—"It is probably that truck you ate for dinner."

A little girl timidly asked the drug clerk for a package of pink dye.

"What do you want it for?" responded the clerk. "Woolen or cotton goods?"

"Neither," said the child. "It's for my stomach. The doctor said she'd have to diet, and she wants it a pretty color."

Save Fuel in Cooking

The illustration shows an interesting test you should try in your own kitchen. It proves the superiority of good enameled ware for cooking purposes. Take an SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan, and a sauce pan of equal size made of aluminum, tin or other metal. Into each pour a quart of cold water. Set both sauce pans over the fire. The water in the SMP Enameled Ware Sauce Pan will be boiling merrily in about five minutes, while the water in the all-metal sauce pan will come to the boil in about eight minutes—three minutes longer. Save fuel in cooking. Use

WEEKLY CROP REPORTField after field of beautiful crops is all that meets the eye of any auto-ist, who makes the trip of the country south and west of Macleod, in the districts of Pincher Creek and Card-ston. In the south country, the wheat and oat fields are magnificent, and although they may be a little green yet on account of the heavy rains of the last few days, they are splendid examples of the best in the country, large heads and firm long green stalks, with a regularity of size and excellence all over the field.As one travels along the Standoff trail towards Cardston, it is a sight that is good for any one who has an idea good crops cannot be grown in Alberta. Dan Gillen and Noel Wyatt two well-known wheat growers on their big wheat farms 16 miles south of Macleod, have two of the finest crops in the district, a few miles further on there is the splendid crops of the big Mennonite colony, formerly known as the Oxy Ranch. After crossing the Kootenay and Belly rivers on to the Blood Indian Reserve, one travels for miles through rich, luxurious hay lands, until the Indian farms are reached, and it is at these farms one gets an idea of what real fine crops are. The farms are situated about twelve miles south of Cardston, and continue all the way back to the Temple City. It is safe to say they are the best possible growing crops in Western Canada, and should, unless anything unfor-seen occurs, be good for 50 or 60 bushels to the acre.Indian Agent Faunt says there are more Indians farming this year than in previous years, as it is an inducement when they see others reaping the benefit from the splendid yields of former excellent crops. The Great Production Farm, under the able management of W. Betts, B. Sc., formerly of Manitoba Agricultural College, and farm instructor to the Indians, is miles and miles of excellent wheat and oat crops, which will be ready for harvesting in a few weeks. It is surprising how green and strong these crops are, and the later rains have hindered these crops rather than helped them. The crops in and around Cardston are equally good, also the districts of Hillspring, Glenwoodville, Spring Coulee, Ewelme and Ardenville, all have promises of excellent crop results. Mark Bailey and Murphy Bros., two of the largest outfits in the Ewelme district claim to have the best crops they have had for years, as also do Jock Mc-Lennan, Whipple Bros., and George Pearson, all of whom farm on a large scale between the two rivers a few miles south and west of Standoff.
The crops on the Peigan Reserve and around Brockett are good, especially those between Brockett and Pincher and Twin Butte. This district has always been a great wheat producing country and this year the prospects appear to be a record breaker in the way of yields, that is if the present crops are any indication of heavy yielding results.

There are some splendid fields to be seen north of Macleod, more noticeable on the irrigated sections, such as the farms of Norman Grier and Carl Grier, both of whom have large sections under the irrigation system.

In the East towards Pincher and Monarch the long dry spell seriously affected what would have been a banner year, but the rains of the last few days have helped considerably, and although there will not be anything like the crops, as compared to the south country, many of them will average 20 to 30 bushels to the acre.
The Macleod district at the present time promises one of the best harvests that has been seen since 1915 and 1916, that is providing weather conditions continue. All they want now is a few weeks good hot weather, with no frost.APPROVE CREAM GRADING SYS-TEM.Expressing approval of the system of cream grading established under the Alberta Dairymen's Act, the following resolution was passed by representative milk and cream producers of Alberta, a copy of which has been received by the Department of Agriculture at Edmonton:—"We, the undersigned representative milk and cream producers of Alberta, hereby express our whole-hearted endorsement of the Alberta Dairymen's Act, and the ministerial regulations made thereunder, and our approval of the system of cream grading established under the said regulation.Furthermore, having fully considered the recent prosecutions launched against the Meadow Creamery Co., of Alix, we unhesitatingly endorse the action which the dairy commissioner took in the matter in seeking to secure a strict enforcement of the Dairymen's Act and its regulations."The owner of the Meadow Creamery Company was not prosecuted and fined for paying more for a particular grade of cream than his competitors.
This creamery owner violated the Dairymen's Act in paying for cream on a grade higher than the grade established by the government grader.
He was also convicted for discriminating in paying less to one patron of the creamery than to another for the same grade of cream. This practice is specifically prohibited by the Dairymen's Act. There is nothing in that Act or in the regulations of the Minister of Agriculture made under the Act, to prevent a creamery owner from paying as large a price as he desires for any grade of cream.
The regulations establish a differential of two cents between the grades of cream, but apart from that no restrictions of any sort is placed upon the creameries in regard to the prices which they pay for cream shipped to them."We appreciate that the government grader, placed as he is between the producer and the manufacturer, protects the interests of both, andthat the present high standard of Alberta butter in the markets of the world is, in a large measure, due to the very efficient system of government grading now in force."

Bevington, Keys Cullen, D. J. Christie and N. S. Clarke.NINTH FORTNIGHTLY CROP RE-PORT.Variableness of the weather conditions at the present time in Alberta, make any really definite statement on crop conditions almost impossible.
Since the last report, issued two weeks ago, unusually heavy rainfall has occurred in almost every district of the province, accompanied by low dips in temperature. Though this precipitation was from three weeks to a month late, and cannot change the general situation with respect to grain crops to any considerable extent, some improvement has been shown in summerfallow crops, and in districts where the damage from the drought had not been too great. With favorable weather conditions from now until harvest, many districts should harvest an average crop where prospects were not so bright a fortnight ago. Throughout a large portion of the east central and southern districts, however, the rain has come too late to revive the grain, and the yields will be very low.In west central and northern districts and eastward from Edmonton to the border of the province, grain conditions continue to be fairly satisfactory, with improved conditions as a result of the late rains. Continuous warm weather is now needed until harvest, however, to fill and ripen the grain. Weather at present date is still cool and showery. There has been no frost, although the temperature has been close to the frost line on several occasions. Precipitation throughout the province during the two weeks has ranged from three quarters of an inch to two inches, some very heavy storms being recorded in districts which previously had had very little rainfall.The most notable improvement from the late rains has been in the feed situation, and there is prospect of fairly heavy yields of greenfeed in many districts. The first cutting of alfalfa on the irrigated lands in the south produced one of the best crops ever harvested, the yield averaging about one and a half tons to the acre.
The second crop is almost ready for cutting.Harvesting of wheat has commenced in the Lethbridge district, and will commence next week in the Me-leone Hat district, becoming general within the next ten days in southern Alberta. In the central and northern districts harvesting will be considerably later, as the grain is only now beginning to ripen.OLD CROW

SPLENDID LOCAL WINDOW DISPLAY

Macleod Board of Trade are to be congratulated on their excellent window display in the east window of the Hudson's Bay store. This window was arranged by the officers of the Macleod Board of Trade and exhibits the very fine examples of grains and grown and produced in the Macleod district.

There are excellent specimens of wheat, oats, brome grass and corn, showing the wonderful productivity of the soil in this district as the specimens are some of the finest ever seen in any wheat growing area. Most of the samples shown are this year's growing, which can be compared with the full yield of several sheaves of wheat from last year's crop. This window will be continued and gradually the growing specimens will be added showing the result of Macleod's wonderful climatic conditions and the bumper crops we can produce in this part of Canada.

There were two Browns in the village, both fishermen. One man lost his wife and the other lost his boat at about the same time.

The vicar's wife called, as she supposed, on the widower, but really up on the Brown whose boat had gone down.

"I am sorry to hear of your great loss," she said.

"Oh, it ain't much matter," was the reply. "She wasn't up to much."

"Indeed!" said the surprised lady.

"Yes," continued Brown, "she was a rickety old thing. I offered her to my mate but he wouldn't have her. I've had my eye on another for some time."

And then the outraged woman fled.—Edinburgh Scotsman.
